ABOUT IQRA'

EST. 1983

If you grew up in the West in the 80's and 90's and attended an Islamic school - you are probably among the hundreds of thousands of students who learned about their Din through our books.

For the past three decades IQRA' has not missed a beat in providing high-caliber resources for schools. We continuously work to transform the students' experience and are proud to say that we are just as passionate about crafting resources, supporting teachers, and coaching administrators as we were on day one.

WORKING WITH SCHOOLS

Being teachers and administrators ourselves whom have worked in schools across the U.S. we understand the level of time, commitment, resources and challenges that schools undergo when planning for continuous improvement. At IQRA' we come to work everyday to help schools solve these problems. A successful day for us is when we learn that the impact we delivered delights teachers and improves schools.

On-Site Evaluation:

IQRA' staff is certified and trained to perform an in-depth analysis and evaluation of your school and its programs. A professional school visit can provide administrators and staff the additional knowledge, advice, and techniques needed to run a successful school. In addition, schools can request a basic consultation to help decide which of our programs will be most effective in helping schools meet their goals and best plan for training or consulting initiatives.
